RS Aqua Ltd – Coronavirus (COVID-19) Statement

The team here at RS Aqua would like to take this opportunity to reassure our clients and partners that we are open for business.

Complying with all Government advice, procedures have been established to ensure we can protect the team and continue to deliver on our commitments. Sales, Operations and Marketing staff remain fully connected at newly established home offices, whilst our segregated Goods In/Out and Service department continues to operate safely at a distance.

Our supply chain of marine science technology partner companies from around the world, remain open for business with near-normal capacity. We are in continuous dialogue with our critical supply chain partners and should delays start to affect any ongoing customer orders, we will proactively update our customers with all information we have. To date, no deliveries have been postponed or delayed caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.

As the situation evolves, so will our strategy to ensure we minimise any impact and continue to deliver full support of our products and services.

Please don't hesitate to reach out to the team through any of the usual channels should you have any queries or concerns.

Stay safe and keep in touch.
